Although there may seem to be a few homes available on today's market, it becomes a different case when searching for that something a little more special in terms of location. This spacious solid home blessed with size and features has also been placed with surreal views of rolling parklands and extremely close to a children's outdoor park complete with slides and play gym. The kids will feel every day as special and this is a great way to spend some quality time with them. The home itself has been finished to include an ensuite, formal large living, spacious kitchen with ample cupboards and exceptionally large meals and possible second living zone, finished in a terracotta tile! New carpets have been fitted, while outside, the roof has been repointed. A large carport keeps the cars happy, while there is also rear access to a huge back yard including workshop! What a brilliant way to get started and yet not be bursting at the seams when kids may arrive. Sounds
